"Love."

Sunday, Aug. 27th, occurred the fifth of the series of religious services held in the schoolhouse of this place by Rev. I. W. Beard of New York City. There was a good attendance and a serious attention directed to the subject of Love, the subject for the sermon. The beautiful chapter of St. Paul, descriptive of charity or love, was read as a part of the lesson for the morning.

The love of the Saviour in laying down His life for His friends was the text and the duty of love to God and to humanity was shown and emphasized by apt illustrations. The beautiful hymn of Palmer, My Faith Looks up to Thee, sung by the choir and congregation was an exceedingly appropriate ending of the service of the day and the benediction of the clergyman took on an added solemnity as the hearers realized that the occasion was the last for the season, as the family of Mr. Beard would leave the following day on their homeward journey to New York. The regret of parting with this genial family is general and genuine and they bear with them very many sincere good wishes and hopes of a return next year.

Beard of New York, and the obligation of obedience to requirements of the Divine will as given in the sacred Scriptures was the theme of the discourse.

NORWAY AND VICINITY.

"Gasoline? Magic? Or Humber?" "Montana Harry" recently made medicine and sold the same from his wagon on Beal street. He had a pretty yarn to tell the unfortunate cripples. Stiff limbs could be made limber, corns and bunions removed instantly and many the miraculous feats performed even to the improvement in the walking of Beverly Thmas.

The medicine was a profound mystery made under the magic spell of the conjurer, Montana Harry. While the White Indian was here he bought some 18 gallons of gasoline of C. L. Hathaway and there are some who boldly assert that this was scooped up and made the basis of his magic medicine.

Twenty cents per gallon retailed, after passing under "the spell" and is sold for medicine at 25c for four ounces, or $2.00 per quart—$8.00 per gallon, hence, 18 gallons $144.00. What a profit!

"Montana Harry," and Tom Burns of San Francisco, the Karo Koro Kure and tooth powder demonstrator are slick articles but they furnish amusement for the populace who delight in being humbugged.

Irene F. Hazen returned Monday to Farmington where she is attending the State Normal school.

Grand Chancellor Morton L. Kimball of the grand domain of Maine, K. P., is away making official visitations to the K. of P. lodges.

Charles Wyman, while running a strip mill Thursday, had a strip driven into the wrist of his right hand and a list of more than 600 of the nation's leading marks men, Corp. Geo. T. Tubbs stood twenty-second.

In the individual match at Sea Girt, N. J., last Saturday, Serg. Mr. P. Stiles scored 42 out of 50 in 200 and 500 rapid fire, and stood third in a list of more than 600 of the nation's leading marks men, Corp. Geo. T. Tubbs stood twenty-second.

You have heard tell of "the grass growing in the streets" of a village. Have you seen the burdocks growing on the wayside of the lane between the Opera House and the Smiley store. It is a luxuriant crop and ought to be ready for the man with a sickle or a bush scythe.

Fred H. Cummings captured a large mud turtle, Friday, near the mill at Crockett bridge. It tilted the steelyards at 45 pounds and was one of the largest ever caught in this vicinity. The shell measuring about 19 inches by 15. Mr. Cummings stepped from a log to his back and thus discovered him. The animal was kept a few days in a tub and exhibited to wondering spectators and then released near where he was found.

Police.

The police are finding out Devoe. Officer L. H. Pinney, of Erie, Pa., painted his house Devoe, perhaps two or three years ago—the tale don't tell when—the painter objected, but Pinney insisted.

Two neighbors of Pinney's have painted since: one lead and oil, the other some other paint, don't know what. But officer Pinney lives in the nicest painted house of the three. These are the story we don't know: what it cost the three to paint. We can guess: about half for officer Pinney.

Chaplin Virgin.

Friday morning, Aug. 25, at 5:20 o'clock occurred the death of Chaplin Virgin at Rumford, at the age of 85 years.

Mr. Virgin was one of the oldest residents of the town, he being a native of Rumford. He has lived all his life in the house in which he was born, this being a great house in Virginia, and he being a member of the family from which the settlement took its name.

He has been a mill man the greater part of his life and accumulated a substantial property.

He was always very much interested in the Universalist church at Rumford and had contributed generous amounts. It was only this last spring that an addition was completed on the church containing a convenient kitchen and church parlors and which was made possible by a donation of $2000 from Mr. Virgin.

Mr. Virgin had been ill for 10 days. His death was caused by hemorrhage of the bladder from which he had suffered at previous times. His nearest relatives are nephews and nieces, including Rufus J. Virgin of Rumford Falls, George Virgin of Mechanic Falls and Mellen Virgin. He was never married and with his brother Albert, who died only a short time ago in Virginia, were the last members of the original and well known family.

The funeral was held at his late home, Saturday, at 2 p. m., Rev. Stanford Mitchell officiating.

Pleasant Days at Waterford.

Welcome the Coming, Speed the Parting. Guests—Keoka Carnival.

A new boarder was making such an infernal racket in his room over the parlor (not ours) that a committee of one was sent up to ascertain the trouble. "It's much worse for me than it is for you," said the occupant, "I am under the doctor's care and he told me to take his prescription two nights in succession and skip the third, and this is the third night."

This is "thrown in" merely as a bouquet to introduce the fact, that already as the days shorten and summer wanes some of our summer visitors are beginning to "skip," all showing grand results from their outing in charming Waterford. But more are coming, among whom are Dr. and Mrs. Hitchcock, Mr. and Mrs. Bicknell of Malden, Mrs. Pierce and daughter, Henry Warren and wife of Boston, and Mr. Lamson and family of Portland.

Fortunate indeed, are the guests of this delightful hamlet as well as its native inhabitants, in having so large and well selected a library for their entertainment, as it is a source of much enjoyment to the fortunate also, in having for its custodian so agreeable and helpful a lady as Sarah W. Knight, whose gratuitous services, by no means a sinecure, are acknowledged and highly appreciated by the reading fraternity. Long may she continue to guard and distribute her treasures of literature to her many friends.

Except for native growth this is not a good country for fruit. We miss the succulent cantalope, the rosy peach, to be sure we see its bluish occasional guest, a maiden's cheek. Of pears we have a few, but they are pairs usually seen in some remote corner or secluded nook and not to be molested. Barries in their season we have had in generous quantities. Just now the berries are in and from the supply one would think that the plains whereon they grow would soon become exhausted. At all events if we continue the feast much longer we shall all become "tattooed."

Among the recent amusements of which there have been many, the water sports, which took place on Keoka Lake, were a grand success and much enjoyed both by the participants and the onlookers.

The following were the winners in the various events:—Singles, rowing race (handicap) Master Kenneth Hilley; gentlemen's, Mr. Grimes; ladies', Miss Woodruff; doubles, men, Mr. Collamore and Mr. Gibbons; ladies, Miss Woodruff and Miss Egan; canoe race, Mr. Harrington and Mr. Harnden; tug of war, Mr. Grimes and Mr. Harnden; tilting, Mr. Hogan and Mr. Pfeiffer; carry race, Mr. Hogan and Mr. Pfeiffer; upset race, Mr. Grimes; swimming race, men, Mr. Collamore; ladies, Miss Stratford; children, Ned Knudson. The sports concluded with a game of water base ball. The judges of the above were Mr. Ryder and Prof. Maxey; referee, Mr. Fanning; starter, Mr. Harrington.

A book puzzle prize contest given by Mr. Stevens in the Lake House about a half was attended by a large company and afforded a very pleasant evening's entertainment. Out of nearly fifty illustrations of noted books forty-seven were correctly guessed by some one of the guests present. The first and second prizes were won by Miss Janice Grimes and Miss Emilee de G. Huff, each having thirty-seven to their credit. Dr. Hilley, Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Wilson each solved thirty-six and the consolation prize went to Mrs. Wilson by lot. The third prize was won by Mr. Stevens and Mrs. Lawrence and Mrs. Dr. Gordon.

A very enjoyable "straw party" (for the unversed a hayrack drive) and also a number of private teas attended a baseball game between the Bolster's Mills team and the Waterford nine at Maple Ridge on Saturday, the 19th. For a second time this season the home boys were the winners in a very interesting and exciting game, the score being 6 to 6. A Trip in the White Mountains.

The twentieth day of August the writer and a friend left Hiram to make a tour of the White Mountain region in New Hampshire. It was a bright, beautiful day, clear to the sky. Our first sight was Glen Ellis Falls, a beautiful, silver cascade about 50 feet in height, which well repaid us for our time. And as we rode on through a wild and magnificent scenery we came to the Willet Notch about noon.

This is one of the most impressive scenes presented to the tourist in this region. You are between two lofty ranges in a narrow valley toward which the mountains come down with majestic grandeur. The entire place is romantic and grand.

The Mt. Washington house is the largest and the most elaborate in all the White Mountain region. It is four stories high exclusive of the foundation story and the towers. Its frontage is 627 feet exclusive of the two wings, each 400 feet. Arriving at the Fabryns about one in the afternoon. Here we found a beautiful place with a large, fine building and lot of accommodations. The lawn tennis and golf grounds which lie under the shadow of a large mountain. Here in the shade of beautiful trees, we spent a happy hour, and we left these delightful mountain regions with deep regret, but we will carry with us to refresh and cheer us as we go back to life's ceaseless toil and endeavor, crowded stores of memories of our sojourn in this magnificent mountain land.

THE IDEAL WIFE

Shapes the Destiny of Men—The Influence of a Healthy Woman Cannot Be Overestimated.

Seven-eighths of the men in this world marry a woman because she is beautiful in their eyes—because she has the qualities which inspire admiration, respect and love.

There is a beauty in health which is more attractive to men than mere regularity of features. The influence of a woman in the possession of perfect physical health upon men and upon the civilization of the world could never be measured.

Because of them men have attained the very heights of ambition; because of them even thrones have been established and destroyed.

What a disappointment, then, to lose the fair young wife's beauty fading away before a year passes over her head! A sickly, half-dead-and-alive woman, especially when she is the mother of a family, is a damper to all joyousness in the home, and a drag upon her husband.

The cost of a wife's constant illness is serious drain upon the funds of a household, and too often all the doctoring does no good.

If a woman finds her energies are flagging, and that everything tires her, dark shadows appear under her eyes, her sleep is disturbed by horrible dreams, if she has headache, nervousness, bearing-down pains, irregularities, or despondency, she should take means to build her system up at once by a tonic with specific powers, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

This great remedy for women has done more in the way of restoring health to the women of America than all other medicines put together. It is the safeguard of woman's health.

Following we publish, by request, a letter from a young wife.

Mrs. Bessie Ainsley of 611 South 10th Street, Tacoma, Wash., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"Ever since my child was born I have suffered, as I hope few women ever have, with inflammation, female weakness, bearing-down pains, headache and wretched headaches. It affected my stomach so that I could not enjoy my meals, and half my time was spent in bed."

A True Friend.

Comment me to the friend that comes
When I am sad and lone,
And makes the sorrow of my heart
The sadness of his own;
The kindly smile that glimmers through
The pleasure of his eyes,
And comes to cheer a lonely hour
And gives his time to me.
Comment me to that genuine heart
Which like the pine on high
Uplifts the same unvarying brow
To every change of sky.
Whose friendship does not fade away
When winter tempests howl,
But like the winter's ice crown
Looks greener through the snow.
He does not with the flitting flock
That seeks a southern sky,
But lingers where the wounded bird
Has laid him down to die.
O, such a friend he is in truth
Whate'er his lot may be—
A rainbow in the storm of life,
An anchor on its sea.
Norway, Me. HATTIE A. SMALL.

In the Woodland.

Fairy fingers touch the woodland
With the sunlight bright and fair,
Painting pictures flecked with sunshine,
Making pictures rich and rare.
Lo! the murmuring brook is calling
As it races o'er the rocks,
Whispering secrets to the woodlands,
Echoing back the secret mocks.
Bubbles float upon the waters,
Dancing from the falls' swift feet,
Skipping o'er the waters' surface
Where the light and shadows meet.
Mossy rocks all lichen covered
Cool and still around us lay,
Grand and silent 'neath the forest,
Leading restless souls to pray.
Nodding ferns and leaves a-tremble
Hover o'er this fairyland,
Sitting the sun's rays for the woodlands,
Shelter from the heat of the hand.
Birds a-twirl 'mid the treetops,
Squirrels chatter all around.
Pine trees sombre, oak and hemlock,
White-ghost birches, all abound.
Carpeted with leaves and needles,
Soft the touch to weary feet,
Strewn with twigs and cast-off branches,
Form a carelessness complete.
Voices of the woods around us
Calling: "Come, all ye who would,
Come and linger in this dreamland—
In this dreamland of the wood."

The Better Way

The tissues of the throat are inflamed and irritated; you cough, and there is more irritation—more coughing. You take a cough mixture and it eases the irritation—for a while. You take and it cures the cold. That's what is necessary. It soothes the throat because it reduces the irritation; cures the cold because it drives out the inflammation; builds up the weakened tissues because it nourishes them back to their natural strength. That's how Scott's Emulsion deals with a sore throat, a cough, a cold, or bronchitis.

Portland Pure Lead

It hides the old color or the new wood better than other brands. It is made from the finest materials. The metallic lead is taken and corroded by the Old Dutch Process, which forms the dry, white powder. This is then mixed by special machinery with selected Pure Linseed Oil and ground to a fine texture in special stone mills.

The result is a beautiful, fine, white paste, such as pure materials and perfect methods only can produce. Forty years' experience in lead making have taught us how to make this whitest and greatest covering Lead.
